district thus opened. Together with his missionary companions, he became an instrument in the hands of the Lord in bringing eleven new converts into the Church. After his return from this mission he again acted as a Bishop's counselor in the Trout Creek Ward, and has ever been active in Church affairs, besides filling a number of civil offices in the community. He has been blessed with good and faithful children, who are all active in the Church. Thus his oldest son, Benjamin Orson, has filled a mission to Great Britain. Another son, Robert W., now acts as Bishop of the Bench Ward in the Bannock Stake of Zion. His fourth son, Donald Willard, has filled a mission to the Northwestern States and later a short mission to the Western States. His daughter, Anna Louetta, has filled a mission to the Eastern States and in all instances Bro. Clegg has assisted these missionaries financially. Bro. Clegg is a farmer and stock raiser by avocation. LDS B'og Ency Vol 4

Forrest Dayton to Be Honored on 80th Birthday

MR. FORREST DAYTON

Mr. Forrest Dayton will be honored on the advent of his 80th birthday with an open house celebration.

It will be held on Sunday, October 19, from 2 to 5 p. m. at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Les Cluff, 257 East Center in Heber City.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

No gifts, please.

FORREST H. DAYTON

Forrest H. Dayton was born October 16, 1889, in Heber City, Utah, the eighth child and youngest son of Alma T. and Amanda Hudson Dayton.

As a boy, my amusements were baseball, basketball, and dancing. I loved doing those things, and my fancies never turned toward hunting or fishing.

When I was 13 I secured work in Fred Buell's store. Working after school and Saturdays, I filled the shelves with groceries and made deliveries.

In 1909 I worked for Wm. Buys, setting type and running the printing press for the local paper, and I also worked at the Heber City power plant. Then, in 1910, I was at the Murdock power plant at Elkhorn.

On September 14, 1910, I married Nellie Giles, and we made our home in Heber City.

In the spring of 1912, when they started building the Wasatch High School, I helped in the building of that structure.

Having done all different types of jobs in Heber, I added to my list the work performed in the machine shops in Helper, Utah, then on to Eureka, Utah, where I was employed by the Iron Blossom mine as top car man.

In 1918 I moved my family to Heber, for I had employment in the Heber City Exchange Company as manager of the grocery department, then later was given the managership of the hardware department in that store. I totaled up 37 years of nine to six routine with the "Exchange." Then on January 15, 1955, I retired from that company.

I was instrumental in organizing the first fire department in Heber City. I was secretary for some time and then was made assistant chief, and was an active member until 1958. Then, along with the other five charter members, we retired from active duty and were made honorary members.

I have been active in the Church, serving in the YMMIA and acting as Sunday School superintendent, and at present I hold the office of a High Priest.

NELLIE JANE GILES DAYTON

Nellie Jane Giles Dayton was born December 22, 1890, in Heber City, Utah, to Nancy Bithia Shelton and Lorenzo Charles Giles.

Born and reared in beautiful Heber Valley, I have lived here my entire life, in the home where I was born, on First West and Center Streets, with the exception of five years spent in Knightsville, Utah, which we affectionately refer to as a "suburb of Eureka."

When I was five years old my father, who had gone up Lake Creek to cut timber for our winter fuel, was killed by a falling tree. My mother was left with seven children to support and care for, the eldest being a daughter 17 years old and the youngest being two years of age.

I received my education in the old Central School, later destroyed by fire. After my graduation I was employed as a telephone operator by the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Co. for two years.

In 1910, September 14th, I was married to Forrest H. Dayton in Heber. The following March we went to the Salt Lake Temple to have our marriage solemnized.

During the first year of our marriage I worked in the dry goods department of the Heber Mercantile Co. Bishop Joseph A. Rasband was manager of the store at the time.

My religious duties have been many. I have taught Primary many years and also have acted as a counselor in the Primary organization. In the Relief Society organization I worked under Sister Rachel Giles. I was both organist and chorister. Then, too, in later years I have kept busy in Relief Society by helping in the music department and also as a visiting teacher.

My husband and I have managed to take vacations whenever it was possible, and the one I enjoyed the most was the trip taken to see the pageant at the Hill Cumorah in New York state, and to view all the places of Church interest enroute.

I have five children, 16 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren.

Our children are: Helen (Leo Cluff), Dorothy (Willard Kohler), Bert (Dortha Duke), Merle (Mark Rasband), Earl (Donna Moulton).

the years of construction of the Ontario-Daly Drain Tunnel remember "Jack" Keetley for his kindness to them as they romped over the hills under which his men were digging. Years later, George A. Fisher, prominent cattleman and land developer, named the community which developed in the valley below the mining project, Keetley, in honor of his childhood hero.

The Keetley area was first prospected around 1875 and 1876. When David Keith and Thomas Kearns were prospecting in the mountains that produced the great mines of Park City, their fellow prospector, David Fisher, turned south and laid claim to the "Columbus," a tract which consider all who have given so generously to start this. It's discouraging to dismantle it."

Originally, children who attended Provo's Waterford did not have to pay tuition, although some fees were required. This past school year, partial tuition was imposed to help meet the school's financial needs.

In addition, Heuston had hoped to set up an agreement with the Provo School District to keep the school in operation. That did not come to fruition, however, leading to the decision to make this Waterford's last year.

"We think this is not the location in the state for a full-tuition paying school," Heuston said.

Nevertheless, she said she would like to see public schools implement Waterford's philosophy.

"We've wanted to share what we've found with the public schools. We've created a model public schools can use if they choose to."

Heuston believes such a choice could lead public schools to some great things, if Waterford's students' performance is any indication.

Student accomplishments just this year include everything from prestigious scholarships to athletic victories to superior placement in academic competitions.

Heuston said in any classroom, whether in a public or private school, there will always be a few students who will excel. But the exciting thing at Waterford has been the large proportion of students who have done well.

"There are high expectations for every child to learn.

As students go through Waterford, their performance improves. By the time they graduate, they are doing exceedingly well."

There has been a unique atmosphere at Waterford, Heuston said. She praised the teachers for their dedication to their jobs, as well as the students for their hard work to achieve their academic goals.

Parents have also had a significant impact.

"We've had parent support that I think is unmatched. They've participated wholeheartedly in their children's education. They've been an important strength to the school."

Looking to the future, Heuston hopes to take what has been started in Provo and continue those efforts in Sandy, which is a tuition-paying school.

JEWELRY LORE

Welcome to GEM WISE. Over the years it has been possible for me to learn many interesting things about precious gems and fine jewelry both from an historical and a technical or gemological standpoint. There are also certain points that are helpful to anyone buying fine merchandise — basic guides to intelligent selection as well as information on the wear and care of gems. In this column I will try to bring you something each month about our wonderful world of gems.

For example, did you know that ruby and sapphire are both the same gem mineral called corundum? Only when the sapphire attains a certain shade of red can it be called a ruby; otherwise it is pink sapphire. Other "sister" gems are emerald and aquamarine, both members of the beryl family. A light emerald is aquamarine. Again, color is the only difference.

If you are interested in history, the story of Angès Sorel and Charles VIII of France is a charming tale. She was the first woman to use diamonds as a means of attracting the king's attention. She also started the feminine vogue of wearing diamonds. Previously they were worn only by men.

In buying fine jewelry, one of the most important things to know is your jeweler. His knowledge and business ethics should be above reproach. Through GEM WISE I hope you will come to know me and our firm a little better.

A HISTORY OF GEORGE ALFRED WOOTTON

1870 - 1957

Written By:

Bert Wootton Nixon

had a garden. His grandson, Bert, was then 14 years old, and he and Bert worked together on the garden, then George would sit Bert down in the shade and talk to him about being a good person. At the time Bert wasn't so excited about the garden work nor the talks they had, but in later years when Bert went on his mission the words of his grandfather rang in his ears and the time of working with him brought pleasant memories. Bert said Grandfather had high personal values and was a great influence in his life because of his example and admonitions.

George was also interested in his granddaughters and wanted them to learn to work, and especially to complete each task thoroughly and meticulously. He many times assisted, overlooked and inspected such jobs as window washing, dusting, vacuuming and others, and made sure the jobs were well done.

George had the Nixon boys, Bert, Tom and Neil, and sometimes his granddaughter Evelyn come to cut his lawn during the summer months. He had a hand mower and wanted the lawn to look neat. Many times he would have it cut in both directions so it would not look stripped. The boys and Evelyn learned neatness and pride from their grandfather through this job. After the work was completed he would sit them down in the green lawn swing and talk to them reciting poems and telling them stories.

In the spring of 1946, George's granddaughters, Joyce and Arlene Eddington (Ethel's girls) came to live with George and Kathryn for the summer. George loved the girls very much and taught them many skills during the time they were there.

It was many years later that Joyce and Arlene realized the great impact Grandfather Wootton had in their lives through their association with him in that summer of 1946. Joyce said, "It was Grandfather who influenced me most
